Why white?

Clarity and Communication

For each development project, we have dedicated technical writers to ensure clarity of functional requirements, technical specifications, specific implementation preferences, change requests and for support.

Process

A comprehensive project plan is documented including project schedule and milestones, deliverables, release plan, change requests, project reporting and tracking, and plans for QA and documentation.

Experience

We have developed IT solutions for global businesses in diverse industry. Please see http://www.white.com/techdev_work_samples.html for details.

Value Addition

- Accurate, clear and international standard communication via emails, skype, phone and screen-sharing software
- An integrated and well-documented product development process
- Strong areas are HTML/CSS, focus on UI engineering and standards-compliant, clean code
- Skilled, passionate and experienced professionals
- Technical documentation associates make us best placed to develop product documentation (White Papers, Product Sheets, User Manuals, Admin Guides, Cheat Sheets, and others) at very little cost and time.
- Since we have worked with global clients in US, UK, Europe and Australia, we understand the international work culture and best practices.
